

Description

FlightSafety's eLearning International Procedures (IPC) Recurrent course reflects the company's 30+ years of experience as a supplier of international operations training to pilots of civil, military, and government flight departments. This all-new, scenario-based course takes you through the Atlantic, Europe, and Pacific allowing you to apply the need-to-know and regulatory information during each leg of international flight.

IPC Recurrent is more than just an eight-hour course. You will have annual access to the "What's New" section where you can check back as often as you'd like to stay up-to-date on changes in international procedures, and coming soon there will be an IPC message board where you can collaborate with other members of the international flying community.

Features and Benefits

- Gain annual access to the course and stay up-to-date on changes in international procedures
- Contains tips and tricks for getting favorable slots from Eurocontrol
- Interactive, engaging, and self-paced
- Meets the training requirements needed for MNPS, RVSM, RNP-4, RNP-10, B-RNAV and P-RNAV Special Use Airspace approvals
- Available anytime and anywhere via the internet
- Operationally-oriented, scenario-based approach where you can plan and "fly" trips to and from several destinations and in different types of airspace and aircraft
- A library of resource documents are available for download, plus you'll receive an IPC Recurrent packet by courier. The packet includes a Recurrent Workbook and Jeppesen navigation charts you will use to complete the three scenario flight legs (Atlantic, Europe and Pacific).

How does the IPC course work?

1. Purchase the course by contacting us (see our contact info on back of this brochure)
