

ProficiencyProtection™

F L I G H T S A F E T Y

Master Technicians No-Cost Training Application

Please complete and submit this form to request your no-cost Master Technician training. You are eligible if you met the following criteria at the time of job loss.

- Was employed full time as a maintenance technician for a business aircraft.
 - Are currently enrolled in the Master Technician program.
 - Became involuntarily unemployed as a result of staff reduction or job elimination since Jan. 1, 2012.
- Not available to maintenance technicians who have taken FlightSafety training since their job loss; who have been hired for a new position as a maintenance technician, or who have been laid off temporarily, furloughed or become unemployed for other reasons.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Country _____ Zip/Postal code _____

Home Phone _____ Cell _____ Email Address _____

Previous employer: _____

Reason for and date of job loss (Please verify involuntary job loss by providing documentation, such as a letter of termination or other official company statement.): _____

Location and date of my most recent FlightSafety training event: _____

The date I enrolled in the FlightSafety Master Technician program: _____

The aircraft type(s) I am training on at FlightSafety: _____

The number of Master Technician courses I have completed at FlightSafety to date: _____

I hereby confirm that I meet the eligibility requirements, the information I provided is accurate, and I authorize FlightSafety to contact my previous employer.

Signature Required

Please return completed form with documentation that verifies involuntary job loss.
Fax to 316.220.3239, email to Proficiency.Protection@flightsafety.com or mail to FlightSafety International, Attention: Proficiency Protection, 1951 Airport Road, Wichita, KS 67209.
A FlightSafety representative will contact you to confirm your eligibility.

ProficiencyProtection™

F L I G H T S A F E T Y

No-Cost Training for Recently Unemployed Business Aircraft Pilots and Technicians

Business aircraft pilots and technicians who have lost their jobs on or after Jan. 1, 2012, as a result of the current economic environment now have one less thing to worry about thanks to our Proficiency Protection program, available exclusively from FlightSafety International, the world leader in professional aviation training. The program will help these Customers maintain their proficiency while they pursue new employment opportunities. Pilots who have become involuntarily unemployed can receive recurrent training at no cost in an aircraft type they trained on under a current FlightSafety Full Service agreement. Technicians currently enrolled in the Master Technician program can receive the next course toward their rating at no cost.

Who can take advantage of this no-cost training?

Those who met the following criteria at the time of job loss.

- Was employed full time as a pilot or technician of a business aircraft.
- Was training with FlightSafety for a minimum of two consecutive years under a current Full Service pilot contract in good standing or currently enrolled in the Master Technician program.
- Became involuntarily unemployed as a result of staff reduction or job elimination since Jan. 1, 2012.
- Pilots and maintenance technicians who have taken FlightSafety training since their job loss; who have been hired for a new position; or who have been laid off temporarily, furloughed or become unemployed for other reasons are not eligible.

What training will I receive and when?

- Pilots can receive a recurrent training course in an aircraft type the pilot trained on under the Full Service agreement the pilot was on at the time of job loss.
- Technicians can receive the next course required in their pursuit of a Master Technician rating for the aircraft type they specified at the time of enrollment in the program.
- FlightSafety will schedule the training on an as-available basis once eligibility has been verified.
- Training must be completed while the pilot or technician remains unemployed and must begin within 12 months of the completion of the last training event.

Are there any obligations on my part?

- No. We are doing this to help you.
- Pilots or technicians who take advantage of this offer will not be required to repay the cost of the course, or to enter into a new training agreement once re-employed.

What else do I need to know?

- FlightSafety reserves the right to contact your former employer and to take other steps to verify your eligibility.
- Training is available only as we've outlined above – the course you are eligible for cannot be substituted for a different course.
- This program is subject to change or withdrawal at any time.
- Eligibility and scheduling will be determined solely by FlightSafety.
- While the actual training is offered at no cost, other expenses such as travel, accommodations and any applicable taxes are your responsibility.
- This offer is void if you become employed prior to taking your no-cost recurrent training.

How do I request my no-cost training?

- Please fill out an application form (available on our website) and return it to us, along with proof of termination, to request your training.
- You will then be contacted by a FlightSafety representative to confirm your eligibility.
- Please email Proficiency.Protection@flightsafety.com for additional information.